WESTERN ASSOCIATION
OF WOMEN
HISTORIANS
ONSITE PROGRAM

42nd Annual Conference

University of Puget Sound
May 20 - May 23, 2010
Welcome to the 41st Conference of the Western Association of Women Historians. Since our founding meeting in June 1969 at the Asilomar Conference Grounds in Pacific Grove, California, the WAWH has met yearly throughout the west, from San Diego to Vancouver, Santa Monica to Phoenix.

Our conferences showcase the latest historical research in a friendly and collegial atmosphere. Papers stretch around the globe, from Asia, Latin America, Europe, and the Middle East, to North America, spanning from the Medieval era to the close of the twentieth century. The largest number of papers explore gender and women’s history, from love, motherhood, health, abortion politics, and the arts including quilts and sonnets, Martha Graham, Dolly Parton, and lots more. Although we often see the WAWH as the yearly western Berkshire Conference of Women’s Historians or the in-between Berks, sessions also cover exciting work on ethnicity, race, religion, and empire, as well as panels on professional concerns and public history. We are pleased to honor Stanford historian, Estelle B. Freedman with a panel of her students, colleagues, and friends. Highlighting our honoree is the keynote speaker, Estelle’s first graduate student, professor Joanne Meyerowitz.

Puget Sound is a liberal arts college nestled in a surrounding residential neighborhood in Tacoma’s North End. The campus will be quiet during the week in which WAWH conferees are there, because Commencement will have occurred the previous weekend. The weather in late May can be seasonably warm and sunny, seasonably overcast and cool, or a mixture. In any event, conditions should be pleasant and the conference sessions lively.

Enjoy the convivial spirit in a relaxed and professional surrounding, whether at the Washington State History Museum or meals with old and new friends. Come join us for intellectual exploration and networking at the WAWH Conference where participants and attendees alike make and maintain academic friendships.

Coalition for Western Women’s History

Navajo Storyteller Doll

As an organization, we’ve been around for 25 years. But we thought we would take this moment to celebrate western women’s history, the women who write it, and our sister organization, the Western Association of Women Historians, which has been supporting women’s history and women’s historians for over 40 years.

Best wishes for a successful conference.
The Oregon Historical Quarterly wants your scholarship.

A peer-reviewed, public history journal published by the Oregon Historical Society since 1900, the Oregon Historical Quarterly brings well-researched, well-written history about Oregon and the Pacific Northwest to both scholars and a general audience. Submissions that add new information to the record, employ new perspectives, or take an interpretive, thematic approach to large questions are welcome.

As the centennial of Oregon woman suffrage approaches, scholars are especially aware of the substantial lack of published history about women’s work in shaping our past, and OHQ is eager to help fill that void.

Find out more about OHQ at www.ohs.org. The editor is happy to communicate with prospective authors at any time. Get in touch at eliza.canty-jones@ohs.org.
